

IT ISN'T ALL IN BRINGING UP.

It isn't all in bringing up.
Let folks say what they will,
To give us a quiet rep.
It will be never still.
Even he of old, when Solomon,
Who said "Train up a child."
If I mistake not, had a son
Prayed rather hard and wild.

A man of mark, who fain would pass
For fond of son and hand,
May have the training of a son,
And bring him up full grand;
May give him all the wealth of love,
Of college and of school,
Yet after all, may make no more
Than just a decent tool.

Another, raised by Penury
Upon her bitter bread,
Whose road to knowledge is like that
The good to heaven must tread,
Begot a spark of Nature's light,
He'll fit it to a daw,

Till in its burning letters bright
The world may read his name.

If it were all in "bringing up,"
In poverty and despair,
Poor results had been honest men
He'd been made of.

O! start all "in bringing up."

Let folks say what they will,

Neglect may dim a silver cup—

It will be silver still.

How to Mend a Chain Pump.

Chain pumps are very much in use at present. They are very good pumps, especially in wells that are not protected much from the frost, as they seldom get frozen so as to prevent their operating, unless the water in the well itself freezes. Sometimes, however, the chain breaks or parts, and then it has been thought necessary to take up the whole pump in order to replace it. A friend told us the other day, a method which he has adopted in such cases with perfect success. The chain with its plugs, you know, is an end, less one, going over a pulley at the top, down outside the pump into the water in the well; then over a pulley under the water at the lower end of the pump tube, thence up the tube. Now if the chain parts, it is difficult getting one end over the lower pulley and up to the other side. Take a strong string of sufficient length to reach from the bottom of the lower pulley to the surface of the water in the well; tie a cork at one end of it and tie the other end to the chain. Then winding the string round the cork put it into the tube and let the chain follow it down. As soon as it gets down under the pulley, the cork will rise to the top of the water in the well from which it may be hooked up. The chain will be hauled up with the string, and the two ends may then be fastened together in the usual way.

Maine Farmer.

65 A gentleman away off in Arkansas, who had been stopping at a cross country tavern about two weeks, writes to a friend about the manner in which "hotel affairs" are conducted. He says:

"The regulations of the house are written in a bold, round hand, and tacked on to the door of each bedroom. The rules are rigidly enforced, and the slightest deviation is met with the penalty. Here they are:

"41. Gentleman will black their boots before leaving their rooms, or they will not be admitted to table without an extra charge of a bit a meal.

"42. Gentleman going to bed with their boots on will be fined a quarter for the first offense, four bits for the second, and turned out and sued for their board for the third—the landlord holding on to the pluder.

"43. No person allowed to call twice for the same dish without paying an extra bit.

"44. Gentleman not on hand at mealtimes cannot come to the table without paying an extra bit.

"45. Any gentleman found going to the ladies' rooms will be fined five dollars, and perhaps turned out as the case is aggravated.

"46. All travellers are expected to treat before leaving the house—the landlord holding on to the plunder until he comes out."

MIRAGE IN CALIFORNIA.—A Gentleman named Gibbons, writing from Tulare Lake to the San Joaquin Republicans, says the inhabitants in that country have frequent opportunities of observing the phenomenon in nature called mirage. At a distance of eighteen miles, the lake above mentioned would appear to be almost within a stone's throw at times, and had the observers not known the distance, they might have been induced, during the exceedingly hot weather in the early part of July to travel toward it to slake their burning thirst. Trees fifteen miles off would loom up so that they could be seen distinctly in their natural size and state, and immediately under other trees, but in an inverted position (their customary appearance in illusions elsewhere) and horses walking along in the same inverted manner. Strange sights and scenes happen in that part of the globe rather frequently.

YOUNG AMERICA.—The following is from the advanced sheets of the forthcoming New Nothing Almanac:

Irish Mother: Arrah, Jonny and where have ye bin so long?

Native Son: Why me and the rest of the boys has been looking an Irishman!

Mother: Wait, ye spalpeen, till yer daddy gis home, you'll be after catching it.

Son: Oh, he be blowed. That's the man we've licked!

(Exit mother with upraised eyes and a half smothered "Och hone!" while son walks off whistling Hail Columbia.)

ELASTICITY.—If an ivory ball be placed on a marble slab, coated with lamp-black, it will only receive a round black spot, on the point on which it rests on the slab.—But if the ball be allowed to fall from a height upon the slab, it will receive a round black spot, increasing in size proportionately to the height from which the ball falls, proving that the ball is flattened at the moment it touches the slab, but that being elastic, it immediately regains its spherical form.

FAIRBANK'S PATENT SCALES.—FK. LETZINGER, respectfully informs the public, that he constantly keeps on hand a good assortment of FAIRBANK'S WARE, also Crockers, Biscuits, and Scone Pies, Collars of every convenient size. ## IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.

HICKOK'S PATENT IMPROVED CIDER MILL, AS ADVISED.

Warranted, if Directions are Followed, and not Otherwise.

A MEDAL was awarded the Inventor from the World's Fair, New York.

To took the First Premium at the Pennsylvania State Fair at Pittsburgh, 1853, and also of a large number of County Fairs.

Read the following certificate:

At Lancaster, June 15, 1854.

W. O. HICKOK.—Sir—I have one of your Improved Cider Mill; used the Mill last October, and trial I ground fifty bushels of apples yesterday. I keep the ground apples twelve hours, and press out two barrels of cider per hour, with two men. I can recommend your Improved Cider Mill to all fruit growers, for speed and a saving of labor.

I can make thirty-five gallons of cider from one barrel, and a half bushels of common apples. The cider will be pressed from the peasants without using water now. Cider will keep one year when water is not used at the press.

JOHN MC COMBE.

Farmers desiring this newly Improved Mill for

Aug. 9, 1854.—2m.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

I BELIEVE it a good maxim, that every person should purchase goods wherever they please, but they should not buy too hastily before they ascertain where they can best buy.

I would most respectfully invite all (ladies in particular) to call at R. Gleman's store, and examine his splendid assortment of goods that can not be excelled in this section of country for CHEAPNESS, durability or style. Which consists of Gentlemen's boots of all descriptions and prices. Ladies and Gentlemen's gaiters, boys and girls' boots and gaiters. Children of all ages can be accommodated.

R. GLENNAN.
